ABSTRACT

This guide is a selective introduction to the major research tools in Canadiana found in the Fogler Library at the University of Maine. A brief description and explanation of the card catalog, Library of Congress Subject Headings, Library of Congress Classification System, and the Dewey Decimal System precede the annotated listing of specialized library reference sources on Canadiana. These materials are listed in 17 categories: general reference works; almanacs and annual guides; archives and manuscript collections; atlases; bibliographies; biographical sources; dictionaries; directories; dissertations; encyclopedias and handbooks; guides to instructional materials; indexes and abstracts; microform research collections (in process); newspapers; statistical references; government documents; and special collections. Concluding remarks inform students of the availability of a computer print-out of periodical holdings in Canadiana; computer researches; a collection of current Canadian telegphone directories; and the services and activities of the Canadian-American Center, Canada House, on the Orono campus. GUIDE TO SOURCES: CANADIANA

This guide is a selective introduction to the major research tools in Canadiana found in Fogler Library. A companion publication in this series, Guide to Sources: Franco-American Studies, may also be of interest.

BOOKS AND THE CARD CATALOG

The card catalog functions as an index to a major portion of the resources found in Fogler Library. Each book or item included in the card catalog has an author card, a title card, and one or more subject cards.

Library of Congress Subject Headings is a guide to the headings used in the card catalog. A Reference Librarian will show you how to use it. Knowledge of this tool may save time and open new avenues of approach to your subject. Copies of these volumes are located near the card catalog and the Information Desk.

Some subject headings for Canadiana are:

ACADIANS	CANADIAN LITERATURE
BICULTURALISM - CANADA	FRENCH - CANADIANS
CANADA - ENGLISH-FRENCH RELATIONS	HABITANTS (Metis, etc.)
CANADA - HISTORY	(Name of Province) - HISTORY

CALL NUMBERS AND CLASSIFICATION

Most of the books in Fogler Library are classified in the Library of Congress system based upon letter and number combinations. A few, however, are classified in the Dewey Decimal System used prior to 1967. The latter books, though older, may still be useful. An example of each classification is shown below:

Library of Congress	Dewey Decimal
F Class	338.971 Class & subclass
1005 Subclass	G 659 Derived from author's name
D 41 Derived from author's name

There are also call numbers with special designations and symbols.

Microfilm	Folio	Ref	Maine	Juv	CC
L 832	CT	Z	G	B 569m	387.22
	284	1365	373		B 128
	W66	H 16	P 3
			S5

All call numbers are on the upper left hand corner of the catalog card. The first line of the call number is particularly important. It indicates whether the material is in the general collection or in a special area. Copy the entire number. Large charts near the card catalog give the stack location of books bearing these numbers and designations.

Basic subjects are covered with the addition of consumer education, law, economics and social issues. Each entry gives a recommendation for grade level and use. Lengthy annotations and evaluations.

INDEXES AND ABSTRACTS

The most recent information on most topics and often the only information on recent developments will be found in periodical literature or related publications. Indexes and Abstracts are the keys to this literature.

An Index is usually arranged by subject and provides a citation to the article. This includes the title of the article, author's name, title of journal, vol. number, pages, and date. An Abstract citation provides similar information, plus a summary of the article. Subject headings used in the Indexes and Abstracts are similar to those used in the card catalog.

GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS

Fogler Library is a regional depository for U.S. federal government publications and a selective depository for Canadian federal documents. This collection represents a major resource for history, foreign relations, political studies, statistics, maps, public administration, law, and social studies.

Most government publications circulate overnight. Questions concerning government documents should be directed to the librarians at the Information Desk. The following titles may be helpful when consulting Canadian documents.

(ask at Information Desk)
Canada in U.S. Documents.
An extensive "card file" compiled by the Canadian Documents Librarian at Fogler Library. Useful for research in Canadian-American relations up to the early 1980's. It chronologically indexes publications involving both Canada and the United States (treaties, fisheries and boundary agreements, import-export trade, etc.).

SPECIAL COLLECTIONS

The Special Collections Department on the 3rd floor houses the State of Maine Collection, the Clinton Cole Maritime History Collection, Maine State government publications, the University of Maine Archives, and the University Collection. These collections contain much of interest to students of Canadian Studies. The Maine Collection includes materials on fisheries, the Aroostook Wars, Indians, and early coastal explorations. The Cole Collection is strong in modern Canadian shipping and naval operations, while the University Collection houses the papers of the Canadian-American Center and theses on Canadian-American relations by University of Maine faculty and students. Maine and Canada: A Bibliography of Materials Located in the Special Collections Department of Fogler Library by Charlotte Huntley (Maine Z 1291 .M25 1984) is a helpful guide to Canadian materials in this area and is available for consultation.

You may want to know... that the Library subscribes to over 100 journals and newspapers covering Canada and related fields. A computer printout indicating Fogler's periodicals holdings in Canadiana may be consulted at the Information Desk.

that the Canadian-American Center, Canada House, 154 College Ave., coordinates Canadian Studies on the Orono campus; administers the Canada Year program; and promotes student and faculty exchanges with Canadian universities. Call 581-4220 for further information.

Information Services houses a collection of current Canadian telephone directories including major cities and most of the Atlantic Provinces.

that a computer search may be run on your topic. Check with a Reference Librarian who will tell you how this is done and what it will cost.
